Materialism versus Human Values in the Victorian Novels

Abstract. Dickens's Great Expectations and Brontë's Wuthering Heights share similar concerns at the thematic level. Both novels are critiques of the Victorian society since they show the differences between the upper and lower classes of the 19th century in England.

Materialism Versus Human Values in the Victorian Novels

Both Wuthering Heights and Great Expectations can be seen to contain elements of the Gothic genre, which can stereotypically be defined by characters such as the oppressive and dominant villain and the innocent and virginal heroine; eerie, mysterious and often haunted settings and unexplainable, usually supernatural, occurrences. It can be argued that the setting of a Gothic novel is a ...
